

ABSTRACT

An apparatus and method for displaying FMS information to a pilot with a map segment and a configurable window of textual information which is configurable both in size and content.

1. An apparatus for displaying FMS information to a pilot, comprising:
a. a map segment;
b. a configurable window of textual information which is configurable both in size and content.